SAKTI OUSHADHALAYA-DACCA

has brought a new era into the Ayurvedic world. Established 1901.

One of the lost jewels of Ayurved and a wonderful remedy for many incurable diseases, MRITA-SANJIVANI SURA (medicated wine).

In name, colour and quality it is exactly the same as that mentioned in the Ayurved. Remember this nectar-like specific has no other name in the Ayurved. Our medicine has no likeness to any of the patent medicines of the same name. After many centuries we are the first to take licence from Government for preparing this Ayurvedic medicine and have placed it on the market at a reasonable price. To bring this rare medicine and other valuable Ayurvedic medicines within the reach of our patrons we are opening branches at various places.

MRITA-SANJIVANI SURA.

A sure specific for acidity, dyspepsia, gout, and a restorative after illness.
Pint Rs. 2/8/-.

SARIBADYARISTA.

A tonic, blood-purifier and preventive of diseases.
Price Rs. -/12/- phial.

BASANTA KUSUMAKAR RAS.

MAHAVRINGARAJ TAILA.

An Ayurvedic hair oil.

Member of Zetland, Secretary of India for India, graciously remained while Governor of Bengal :-

"I was astonished to find a factory at which the production of medicines was carried out on so great a scale. Large number of Kavarajas was employed, etc., etc."

Mathur Babu seems to have brought the production of medicine in accordance with the prescriptions of the ancient Shastras to a high pitch of efficiency etc."

Lord Lytton, Ex-Viceroy and Governor-General of India (Officiating) and formerly Governor of Bengal, wrote :-

"I was very interested to see this remarkable factory which owes its success to the energy and enthusiasm of its proprietor, Babu Mathur Mohan Chakravarty, B.A. The preparation of indigenous drugs is a very great achievement. The factory appeared to me to be exceedingly well managed and equipped, etc., etc."

Desabandhu G. R. Das said :-
"A better managed factory than Sakti Oushadhalaya can not be expected, etc., etc."

PUBLISHERS' FOREWORD

THACKER'S INDIAN DIRECTORY makes its appearance in 1937 for the seventy-sixth year in succession. Year by year new features are added to this work and existing entries are revised and brought up to date as far as is humanly possible.

Additions and improvements in the current edition include the addition of Delhi, the capital of India, and Karachi, the capital of Sind, as separate sections. Ceylon, with its nine provinces, has been added as a new feature. Airways find a place in the Conveyance section.

Recognised as the standard work of reference regarding the Indian Empire, THACKER'S INDIAN DIRECTORY possesses unique features and contains a wealth of information that is to be found in no other similar publication in the East.

THE DIRECTORY OF CHIEF INDUSTRIES, which is contained in THACKER'S INDIAN DIRECTORY, is also published and sold as a separate volume at Rs. 10, with the addition of the Ceylon Tea and Rubber Estates, an Alphabetical Index of Residents connected with the Chief Industries of India, Burma and Ceylon and an Alphabetical List of Companies, Factories, Works, Mills, Mines, Tea Gardens, Coffee Estates, etc. In it will also be found full particulars of Manufactories at work in developing the resources of the country.

THE DIRECTORY OF CALCUTTA, City and Suburbs, is also published in a separate volume and sold at Rs. 9, for the convenience of those who do not require the larger and more expensive INDIAN DIRECTORY.

THE CALCUTTA STREET DIRECTORY makes its appearance this year also as a separate pocket-sized volume at Re. 1-8.

The Publishers desire to thank all those who have so courteously responded to their request for information, as well as those who have helped with their criticisms and suggestions. They will be grateful if readers will bring to their notice any errors or omissions in this edition, the compilation of which has entailed many hours of arduous labour.

THACKER'S INDIAN DIRECTORY, title and contents, is fully protected by copyright, and all information supplied by the General Public, Mercantile Community and Government Departments is regarded as bona fide.

British Indian Money, Weights, Etc.

LINEAL MEASURE.

Notwithstanding that the cubit or human forearm is basis or unit in Oriental and Western countries, there is no fixed standard established in India.

In Bengal the measure mostly used is the following:—

1 Hath (Cubit)—18 Inches; 4 Haths—1 Danda, or—2 Yards; 2,000 Dandas—1 Coss

The Coss or Bengal mile is equal to 1 mile, 1 furlong, 3 poles, $3\frac{1}{4}$ yards English

The Indian Imperial Coss is equal to $2\frac{1}{4}$ miles nearly

In the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh the average distance is about 2 miles, but it differs in almost every province in the country. For instance, in Agra and Muttra the coss is about $1\frac{1}{2}$ mile; towards the Hills the coss is a little more than a mile; in Bundelkhund it is three times as long as in other parts and is called a Pucca coss; while in the Doab it is the Gow coss, or as far as the lowing of a cow is heard at dead of night

1 table-spoonful = 4 fluid drachms

MEASURES OF CAPACITY.

1 Imperial gallon = 4 quarts = 8 pints
1 pint = $1\frac{1}{4}$ lbs (water)

In England, by the term gallon, the Imperial gallon is meant, but in the United States of America the much smaller apothecary's or wine gallon is understood, 1 Imperial gallon being equal to $1\frac{1}{2}$ wine gallons or 1 wine gallon = .8335 Imperial gallon

LIBRARY OF THE INDIA OFFICE

INDIA OFFICE, WHITEHALL, LONDON, S. W. 1.

Librn and keeper of Oriental printed books and MSS H N Randle DPhil

This Library (founded in 1801) serves the two-fold purpose of departmental and general reference. The former requires a fairly exhaustive provision of works—descriptive, historical, political, scientific, etc—originated by European contact with India and the most nearly adjacent countries. But a place is found also for large, in some cases unrivalled, collections of Oriental MSS (Sanskrit, Arabic, Persian, Hindustani, etc), and for the apparatus of philological literature relating to the study of them. There is a reading-room where books and MSS may be consulted by members of both services, retired members and such individuals as either are well known to the Librarian or produce a suitable introduction. Books and MSS are lent under certain conditions

The Library is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. (Saturdays 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.)

Cawnpore's Tallest Building

HENLEY CABLES

YET one more of the innumerable important buildings for which Henley Cables were specified is this imposing Cawnpore structure, headquarters of the local Electric Supply Corporation. This, the tallest building in the city, is wired throughout with wires and cables made by the firm that has been making them for one hundred unbroken years—Henley's.

THIS floodlit building is "Electric House", the new offices of the Cawnpore Electric Supply Corporation, Limited. The modern design makes it outstanding amongst the surrounding buildings. The wiring was carried out with White C. T. S. Cables. HENLEY "NOMET" WIRING SYSTEM.

Centenary Year

100 years ago William Thomas Henley in a humble little workshop began manufacturing electric wires.

From that small beginning has grown the great Company of today, a Company steeped in tradition of service.

We of Henley's pause to salute the memory of that early pioneer, for we, and indirectly, the whole of the electrical industry, are in his debt.

The beginnings of a great organisation

The origin of the name of W. T. Henley's Telegraph Works Co., Ltd., is puzzling to many people. Yet the name is in itself evidence of the connection of Henley's with the very beginning of commercial electrical activity and the earliest manufacture of insulated conductors.

William Thomas Henley was a "Telegraph Manufacturer" as he made both the instruments and the conductor. His works at North Woolwich were known as W. T. Henley's Telegraph Works. Thus when the present Company was formed it was decided to use the existing description with the addition of "Company, Limited".

Born at Midhurst in Sussex in 1814, Mr. Henley founded his Telegraph Works in the year 1837 and with the increasing use of telegraphic communications his business grew by leaps and bounds. About 1856 he took 3½ acres of land at North Woolwich on a lease of 99 years with an option of purchase. During the years 1860-1863 he carried out a number of important submarine cable contracts, including the manufacture of the Persian Gulf Cable for the Indian Government. This Cable, 1,450 miles in length, was manufactured by Henley and laid by Sir Charles Bright in 1863-64.

The present Company was formed in 1880, Mr. Henley being one of the seven original directors. He died in 1882, and so, to other hands, was passed on the industrial structure which, single-handed, he had built up.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS (Indian Bureau)—Improvement Trust bldg, Esplanade—The main objects of the League of Nations, which has its headquarters at Geneva, are to achieve international peace and security, i.e., to prevent future wars by establishing international relations on the basis of justice and honour, and to promote co-operation, material and intellectual, between the nations of the world. Further, the League recognises that universal peace can be established only if it is based on social justice. The League of Nations is a league of states and its business is transacted by representatives of governments which are its members. It does not abolish the principle of national sovereignty and it is not a kind of super-state with an existence above and outside the states which compose it. Its chief purpose is to bring about an agreement in the clashes of national ambitions and interests which might occur from time to time. It affords to those who really wish to come to an agreement a basis of conciliation. But the League is not a panacea and does not by its mere existence ensure, without the continued goodwill of all civilised countries and without the wholehearted and unreserved assent of the peoples, the automatic solution of every difficulty that may arise. Its main weapon is, therefore, the appeal to the public opinion of the world and to the world's respect for justice. The Indian Bureau of the League of Nations has been established in Bombay with the concurrence of the Government of India, which is an original member of the League. As an organic part of the League Secretariat, the Bureau endeavours to interest public opinion in India in the activities of the League through all legitimate channels. The principal League approach to international public opinion is through newspapers, news agencies and independent journalists. As an official information service the Bureau can only state facts and does not attempt to advocate any particular policy or express opinions. It tries to co-operate with educational authorities and institutions in the task of instructing the youth in India in the aims and ideals of the League of Nations; and national societies and organisations—commercial, economic, medical and social—may keep themselves informed of League developments which are of interest to them through the Bureau. The library of the Bureau containing documents and publications of the League Secretariat is at the disposal of those interested in the study of international questions. The League publications, which deal with outstanding world problems relating to economics, finance, commerce, transit, hygiene and other topics, are stocked and sold by the Bureau. Offr in-charge M V Venkateswaran M A, J P

A service which may not be realised

A corner of Henley Research Laboratory at Gravesend.

The outcome of much more than a lifetime of experience and carefulness in manufacture is embodied in Henley Cables and Accessories.

That experience prompted us to equip some years ago one of the finest Research Laboratories in the Electric Cable Industry and to staff it with Scientists, Physicists, and Chemists of high degree and famous in their field of endeavour.

That is a SERVICE which has no tangible form—but you get it in Henley Cables, nevertheless!
